THE ACADEMY AND ITS OBJECTIVES

The Academy of the Social Sciences in Australia (prior to July 1971 the Social Science Research Council of Australia) is a corporate body of social scientists. Its functions are:

- (i) to encourage the advancement of the social sciences in Australia;
- (ii) to act as a co-ordinating group for the promotion of research and teaching in the social sciences;
- (iii) to foster research and to subsidise the publication of studies in the social sciences;
- (iv) to encourage and assist in the formation of other national associations or institutions for the promotion of the social sciences or any branch of them;
- (v) to act as the Australian national member of international organizations connected with social sciences; and
- (vi) to act as a consultant and adviser in regard to social sciences.

For the origins and development of the Academy, see the 1975-76 (or an earlier) Annual Report, and K.S. Cunningham: The Social Science Research Council of Australia 1942-1952, SSRC, Canberra, 1967.

Each member, on election to the Academy, takes the title of Fellow. As at 30 June 1983 there were 192 Fellows of the Academy. New Fellows are elected by postal ballot on the recommendation of the Membership Committee. The Academy's functions are discharged by an Annual General Meeting and the Executive Committee. The Executive Committee consists of the President, the Treasurer and seven other members all elected at the Annual General Meeting.

Since 1953 the Australian Government has provided an annual grant to assist the Academy to meet administrative and travel costs. In 1982-3 the grant was $79,000.

Four Panels, each representing related groups of disciplines as described on page 7 above, serve the Academy with advice relating to membership matters, the selection of new research topics and general policy issues. Panel activities are supplemented by assemblies of Fellows on a State basis, with meetings held from time to time in the various capital cities. These Branch meetings provide useful and relatively inexpensive extensions to Panel activities, and are most fruitful where they are called to discuss issues of current significance to particular States. During the year, Branches assisted the Executive with a range of matters: the organization of a lecture series, proposals for sesqui-centenary activities in Victoria and South Australia; fund-raising, and the preparation of material for the Newsletter.

The Academy has put much emphasis upon its Major Research Projects, which are described in a later section of this Report. They have stimulated new research, not merely among the Fellows of the Academy, but widely throughout universities and research institutes in Australia. They have also helped to clarify issues of significance in the formulation of government policies and have at times involved close collaboration with government officials and departments at both Federal and State levels. This interaction has been essential to the progress of these Projects, particularly in the cases of the Projects on the Aborigines in Australian Society and Immigrants in Australia.

Major Projects are costly enterprises and the depressed economic scene of 1982-83 was unfortunately not propitious for raising funds for a new project, Australia and the South-West Pacific. The position relating to this Project is being reviewed in 1983-84.

The Academy also pursues a number of shorter-term enterprises which aim to study topics assessed to be of major significance, both academically and nationally. These form the basis of the Academy's programme of seminars and workshops, some of which have been wholly ASSA's responsibility and others joint efforts with other Academies and with government departments. Lectures, seminars and workshops have been playing an increasingly important role in Academy activities over the past three or four years.

Research is not, however, the only function of the Academy: it also has a role to play as a consultant and adviser and in promoting and encouraging 'the advancement of the social sciences' both in Australia and abroad. In these wider roles the Academy appreciates its collaboration with the Academies of Science, the Technological Sciences and the Humanities through the deliberations of the Consultative Committee of the Australian Academies and in joint seminars and workshops. It also seeks a more effective liaison with government departments and research organizations who are prime users of social science concepts, data and methodologies.

The Academy sustains its international activities through its affiliation with the Association of Asian Social Science Research Councils (AASSREC) — of which it is currently President — and the International Federation of Social Science Organisations (IFSSO). In 1980 a new venture of considerable significance was initiated: an interchange scheme between the Australian Academies of the Social Sciences and the Humanities, acting jointly, and the Chinese Academy of the Social Sciences (see page 12 below). The Academy expresses its appreciation of the Australian Government's continued support for this Scheme.

ACADEMY ACTIVITIES

1. RESEARCH

Four Major Projects have been completed by the Academy and its predecessor, the Social Science Research Council in Australia: Women in Australia, Taxation in Australia, Aborigines in Australian Society and Immigrants in Australia.

The results of each of the first two projects were produced as a single volume. The Aborigines project was a much larger and longer-term enterprise, which generated twelve research monographs and three major synoptic volumes by the Project's Director, Dr Charles Rowley. This series covers a wide range of topics including the history of Aborigines since European settlement in Australia, their settlement patterns in both remote and urban areas, their economic status, their health and their morbidity.

In the Immigration Project, ten monographs have been published. These include studies of selected ethnic groups, immigrant communities, patterns of income and expenditure, political attitudes and behaviour, and the impacts of professional and highly skilled immigrants in Australian society.

Several further studies were essentially 'seeded' from the main Immigration Project. One such study was the series Studies in the Education of Migrant Children, which was financially supported by the Commonwealth Department of Education, with the Academy providing assistance for the final editing and preparation of the manuscripts for publication. This project was severely affected by the untimely death in 1979 of Dr Jean Martin, and the Academy appreciates the dedicated work of her collaborator, Dr P. Meade, in bringing this work to completion. Under the title The Educational Experience of Sydney High School Children, the first Report was produced in 1979, the second in 1981, and the third in 1983.

The new Major Project, Australia and the South-West Pacific, faced some difficult problems in 1982-83. Steady progress continued in the sections of the study being carried out in the Department of Pacific & Southeast Asian History in the Research School of Pacific Studies, Australian National University, particularly with regard to historical research in New Guinea; but the Academy's attempts to supplement this University-based research by raising funds of its own met with little success in 1982-83 — a result which was not entirely surprising given the severe downturn in profits of most of the companies approached. In the light of this experience, the Executive decided to review the Project in 1983-84. (For details of the Project as initially planned, see Annual Report, 1981-82, pp.10-11.)

The Academy also continued its sponsorship of 'Trend Reports'. Under the guidance of Professor F. Gruen, Volume 3 of the Surveys of Australian Economics was published. The second 'Trend Report', Survey of Australian Political Science, progressed under the guidance of an Editorial Committee with Professor D. Aitkin as Chairman. The goal is one volume covering political history and biography, political institutions, political sociology, public administration, radical political science, international relations, political theory and foreign politics. The Executive approved the outline of a further 'Trend Report' in Geography to be edited by Professors H. Brookfield and J. Mabbutt. This study aims to develop a collection of 'thematic' studies around the concepts of 'surplus space' and 'limited water'. Further 'Trend Reports' in Psychology, Education, Sociology and Law were approved in principle by the Executive and their feasibility was being explored by the Executive Director as the year closed.

2. SYMPOSIA AND CONFERENCES

This year saw further discussion of topics which were felt to be of national interest.

The Annual Symposium held at the Annual General Meeting in November 1982 was on the topic Bigger or Smaller Government. Papers presented were:

- Small Government: Some Issues (Professor J.A. Passmore);
- Where Does Australia Stand? (Professor D.A. Aitkin);
- Small Government and Social Equity (Professor P. Wilenski);
- Government and Economic Management (Professor R. Parish).

The Proceedings of the Symposium are expected to be published by the end of 1983.

During the year three books arising from earlier Symposia were published:

- (a) John Black, ed.: Liquid Fuels in Australia, A Social Science Perspective, Pergamon Press, Sydney, based on papers presented at a joint seminar of the four Academies — the ASSA, the Australian Academy of the Humanities, the Australian Academy of the Technological Sciences and the Australian Academy of Science — in April 1981.
- (b) W.D. Borrie & Margaret Mansfield, eds. Implications of Australian Population Trends, ASSA and the Department of Immigration & Ethnic Affairs, ANU Printery. Proceedings of a Conference held in Canberra, September 1981.
- (c) Ronald M. Berndt, ed. Aboriginal Sites, Rights and Resource Development, University of Western Australia Press, 1982. Proceedings of the Annual Symposium of ASSA, November 1981.

With the aid of a grant of $30,000 from the National Energy Research, Development and Demonstration Council (NERDDC), the final phase of the Liquid Fuels Project was also completed, with a Report by Post-Doctoral Fellow Dr R.J. Stuart, entitled The Social and Economic Impacts of the Changing Liquid Fuels Situation with Respect to Transport, Spatial Structures and Urban Planning in Australian Cities : A Social Sciences Research Review. The Report has been forwarded to NERDDC and publication is expected in 1983-84. This Report completes the Liquid Fuels Project.

3. ANNUAL ACADEMY SYMPOSIUM

For an account of the Symposium in November 1982 on Bigger or Smaller Government, see Item 2 above.

In November 1982, the Annual General Meeting agreed that the Annual Symposium for November 1983 should discuss the topic Women and Social Science: New Modes of Thought with Dr Carole Pateman as Convener of the Organizing Committee.

4. ANNUAL LECTURE

The Tenth Annual Lecture of the Academy was given in the Coombs Lecture Theatre, Australian National University on Tuesday, 9 November 1982 by Dr R.G. Gregory, Professorial Fellow in Economics, Department of Economics, Research School of Social Sciences, Australian National University. The Lecture entitled The Slide into Mass Unemployment: Labour Market Theories, Facts and Policies has been published and is available from the Office of the Academy.

The Academy Lecturer chosen for 1983 is Professor Jacqueline Goodnow. Her topic, Women and Changes in Topics, Methods, and Models, has been chosen to fit in with the 1983 symposium referred to above.

5. INTERNATIONAL ACTIVITIES

The Academy continued its affiliation with the Association of Asian Social Science Research Councils (AASSREC) and the International Federation of Social Science Organizations (IFSSO). In 1982-83 the second round of the Exchange Scheme between the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences and the Academies of the Humanities and of the Social Sciences in Australia was completed, and the scholars for the third round were selected.

(a) Chinese-Australian Exchange Scheme

Seven Australian scholars were approved by the Chinese Academy for visits to China between June and December 1983. These were:

Professor G.W. Clarke, Humanities Research Centre, Australian National University;
Dr C.T. Fisher, University of Melbourne;
Dr D.A. Kelly, Department of Taxation, Canberra;
Dr K.S. Liew, Department of History, University of Tasmania;
Dr Y.K. Ng, Department of Economics, Monash University;
Professor A.L. Powell, Impact Research Centre, University of Melbourne;
Dr B.K. T'sou, School of Human Communications, Murdoch University.

The Australian Academies' Selection Committee approved the following recommendations of the Chinese Academy for visits to Australia, with the scholars to arrive in July 1983:

Mr Chen Ligui, Assistant Research Fellow, CASS Institute for South Asia;
Mr Qin Qiming, Assistant Research Fellow in CASS Agricultural Economics; and
Mr Song Guoqing, Assistant Research Fellow in CASS Agricultural Economics.

These scholars will be accompanied by an interpreter, Mr Lin Di.

In addition to the visit of the above scholars, the Chinese Academy has advised that a delegation consisting of the following will visit Australia 6-23 September 1983:

Mr Liu Guo-Guang, Vice-President of CASS and leader of the delegation;
Mr Wu Jiemin, Deputy Secretary-General of CASS;
Mr Wang Huanyu, Deputy Director of the Bureau of Scientific Research, CASS; and Mr Lin Qing, Head of the Section for America and Oceania, Bureau of Foreign Affairs, CASS.

The delegation will be accompanied by Mme Huang Lie, a staff member in the Foreign Affairs Bureau, CASS who will act as the interpreter.

(b) AASSREC

In July 1982, Professors W.D. Borrie and W.R. Geddes attended the meeting of the Executive Council of the Association of Asian Social Science Research Councils (AASSREC) in Seoul, where the main item was consideration of the draft plan, prepared by the Australian Organizing Committee, of the Fifth Biennial Conference of AASSREC to be held in Sydney, December 3-10, 1983. Professor Borrie was elected President of the Executive Council and Professor Geddes Convener of the Conference Organizing Committee. ASSA will be host to the Conference. As the year closed the first steps had been taken to raise the necessary funds (estimated at $50,000) for the Committee and to invite representatives from the Member Councils of Asian countries. The Conference is to discuss three major projects:

- (i) The Economic Futures of the Southeast Asian Region and the Role of the Social Sciences;
- (ii) National Perspectives in Social Science Development (including such matters as indigenisation, social science theory and the dissemination of research findings);
- (iii) The preparation of "national profile studies", or textbooks for senior school children, outlining the basic features of national social structures, concepts and trends, to be translated into the major languages of the region. In January ASSA completed a contract with Unesco on behalf of AASSREC for the preparation of up to five such studies and by June three authors had been commissioned. (The progress of the project is to be reviewed with the authors at the Sydney conference in December 1983.)

(c) IFSSO

There were no activities associated with the International Federation of Social Science Organisations, whose next biennial conference is scheduled for November 1983.

6. JOINT ACADEMY ACTIVITIES

Two meetings of the Consultative Committee of the Australian Academies were held in October and April with ASSA's President as Chairman. Matters of common interest which were discussed include the level of tertiary education allowance, the funding of research, policy with regard to the "Centres of Excellence", visa policy for international conferences, and the delegates report on the Pacific Science Congress held in Dunedin in February. The Committee also agreed to continue aspects of its project on The Protection of Prehistoric Places, particularly the study of the effects of tourism on selected sites (Kakadu Park) and dissemination of knowledge relating to the significance of Aboriginal rock art and its preservation.

In April the Committee agreed to establish a Joint Academy Committee to consider the organization of a workshop, and possibly longer-term activities, to examine the implications of technological change particularly with regard to employment and the structure of the labour force.

The Committee also gave preliminary attention to financial and structural problems associated with the lack of correspondence in the representation of specific disciplines at national and international levels, and the rising costs of representation in international bodies and at international conferences.

Many of these matters are expected to be continuing agenda items through 1983-84.

7. TAX EXEMPTION STATUS

During the year the Academies of the Social Sciences and of the Humanities made a joint approach to the Government requesting exemption from income tax for gifts to the Academies under Section 78(1) (a) of the Income Tax Assessment Act. The Commonwealth Treasurer's reply stated that exemption could not be granted at the moment but indicated that he has arranged for all such requests to be brought together for his consideration during the budgetary processes so that the merits of the various requests can be considered on a comparative basis rather than in isolation. The Treasurer added that he would also bear in mind the offer to meet him to discuss the matter and to provide any further details that may prove necessary for further consideration of the matter.

The exemption now sought is for general purposes under the Income Tax Assessment Act and is separate from the exemption for gifts for research purposes under Section 73A(1) of the Act: this exemption still stands.

8. OFFICE ACCOMMODATION

In 1982 investigations began jointly with the Academy of the Humanities regarding alternative office space — a step deemed necessary because of the National Library's need for additional space for its own purposes in the present Library Building. In February 1983 the Academy moved its offices to the Garden Wing of University House. The Academy expresses its very great appreciation of the generosity of the National Library in providing office space, and many other services as well, from September 19, 1968 until February 15, 1983.

9. NEWSLETTER

In May 1982 the first Newsletter of the Academy was published, with Professor Peter Sheehan of the University of Queensland as Editor. His second issue appeared in December 1982. In November 1982, Dr J.J. Smolicz was appointed Editor, and in June 1983 the third Newsletter appeared. (It is planned to publish two Newsletters annually.)

Until 1977, the Academy assisted a number of activities by contributing to the cost of Seminars, providing travel grants for study in Asia, or by directly subsidising journals. Many publications arose from these activities and lists of such are printed in the Annual Report for 1976-77 and earlier under the headings Publications Arising from Sponsored Activities and Publications Subsidised by the Academy.

The policy of sponsorship and subsidy was discontinued in 1977.

FINANCE

The audited financial statements for the year ending 30 June 1983 are presented below. The expenditures this year had to meet the costs of removal and the higher rent associated with the transfer of the Academy offices from the National Library to University House in February. While a considerable portion of these special additional costs were covered by the increase in the Government grant for 1982-83 compared with 1981-82, further increases in normal running costs (equipment, travel, accommodation etc.) had also to be met.

The Main Account, i.e. the administrative account, shows a deficit of only $769. This small deficit is explained largely by the increase in fixed assets of new furniture and fittings acquired for the new offices. There is an outstanding account for the installation of a new telephone system, the cost of which will have to be met in 1983-84.

The net balance in the Research Project Account stood at $36,758 at the close of the year, with a cash balance of $32,067 compared with $28,058 a year earlier. The year marked the closing off of existing projects and the preparation of new activities whose financial impacts will begin to be felt in 1983-84.

Similarly, the balance of $2,662 in the Liquid Fuels Account will be absorbed in publishing the final Report which is now in hand.

The AASSREC Conference Account balance of $9,560 is the first instalment of funds being raised for the Fifth Biennial Conference of the Association of Asian Social Science Research Councils to be held in Sydney, December 3-10, 1983. As President of the Organization, the Academy has accepted the responsibility of organizing and funding this Conference, which is estimated to cost approximately $50,000. The Academy appreciates the support of Unesco for this first grant.

The Australian Population & Immigration Council-ASSA Conference Account was closed in December, marking the completion of that joint Project. The balance of $1,886 was transferred to the Research Project Account to assist meeting the costs of publication of the Proceedings of the Conference entitled The Implications of Australian Population Trends.

Revenues and Expenditures were kept in reasonable balance in 1982-83, but it became increasingly clear during the year that new initiatives by the Academy will require additional funding beyond the Government's Grant-in-Aid. For this reason the Academy is continuing to press for tax exemption for gifts to the Academy for general purposes as well as for research activities. Although unsuccessful so far in its approach to the Treasurer, the Academy will continue to press its case.
