While the Academy's selection committee gives careful consideration to applications, it is not able to enter into discussion or correspondence regarding the reasons why an application is unsuccessful, as we receive a high number of applications each year.

Successful applicants will be required to arrange for their grant administering institution to sign a funding agreement with the Academy (this will generally simply involve forwarding the draft agreement to research office staff to finalise), and to issue a tax invoice for payment of the grant amount.

Successful applicants and co-convenors will comply with all requirements and responsibilities set out in the grant funding agreement.

Successful applicants will also be asked to provide information and images to the Academy's communications team for purposes of promoting the workshop through newsletters and social media. Successful applicants will be responsible for preparing and delivering the outputs outlined in the original proposal.

Successful applicants will be required to include appropriate recognition of the Academy as a sponsor in all workshop-related materials and outputs (e.g. publications).

Following completion of the project, successful applicants are required to provide the Academy with at least one image of the event, for media promotion.
